PINKED AND OWNED · COMMUNITY CLOTHING

From your idea to an item in the game

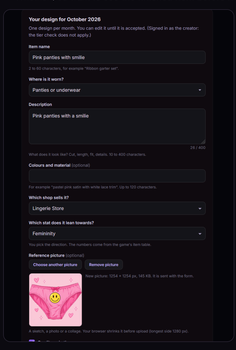

Designer and Muse members on Patreon can send me one clothing design per month. I draw it, balance it and put it in the game for every player. This is the whole path, shown with the first design that went through it: the Smiley Panties.

1 design per month · Free for all players · Credit as "Designed by" if you want it · Optional preview before release

1 Send your design

Open the community page on pinkedandowned.com and log in with Patreon. The form asks for:

- Item name and where it is worn (top, outfit, panties, shoes, collar and so on).
- A short description (cut, length, fit, details) and, if you like, colours and material.
- Which shop sells it and which stat it leans towards. You pick the direction; the numbers come from the game's item table, so every design stays fair.
- An optional reference picture: a sketch, a photo or a collage.
- Whether you want to be credited, and the name to show.
- Whether you want to see the finished item before it is released.

2 Submitted

Submitted

Your design shows up under Your designs. Until I accept it you can still change everything, including the picture and the preview choice. The confirmation tells you which preview choice you made.

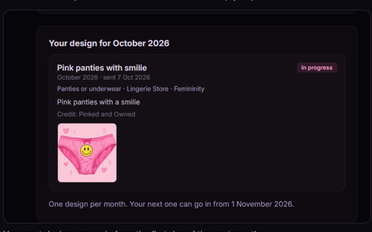

3 Accepted, I build it

In progress

I read every design myself. If something does not fit the rules I ask for a change, and you get my note on the page. Once I accept it, I build it:

- the shop icon,
- the paper doll layers: the item worn from the front and the back, on every body (short or long hair, with or without breasts), so it fits your character however far the story has gone,
- the stats and price from the item table, for the shop you picked.

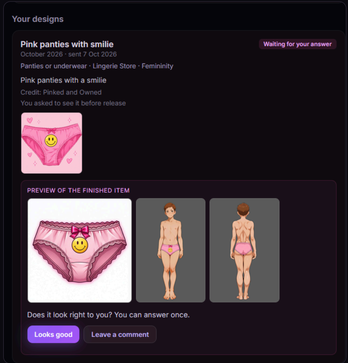

Your next design can go in from the first day of the next month.

4 Your preview (optional)

Waiting for your answer

If you ticked "I'd like to see the finished item before it is released", you see the icon and the doll wearing it, from the front and the back, before anyone else does. You answer once: Looks good, or a short comment if something is off.

> Only you and I can see your reference picture and your preview. Without the preview box, you see the item first in the game.

5 Released

Shipped

The item comes with the next update, for every player, in the shop you picked. If you asked for credit, the shop and the wardrobe show "Designed by" with your name, and the changelog names you too. Your design card then says Shipped with the version number.

Your reference picture is deleted 90 days after the release. If you want it gone sooner, just ask me.

The result in the game

The Smiley Panties in the Lingerie Store and in the wardrobe, worn by the character.

In the Lingerie Store: stats, price and "Designed by Pinked and Owned"

In the wardrobe: the character wears it, the card carries the credit